Persons desiring a first class meal should call at the restaurant of Dan, Meagher, Jr., on Ann street.

The Georgetown Railroad will be worth thousands of dollars in freight to Frankfort, by competition.

The police should give an eye to fast driving through the streets before some serious accident startles the community.

Some care should be taken, when the new engine house doors are thrown open by machinery, that they do not strike passers by.

Messrs. W. A. Gaines & Co. will shortly begin tearing down the Price residence on Main street to make room for a large warehouse. The occupants of the building have been notified to vacate.

Mr. Thos. Moore, living near Scrabble, Shelby county, caught a spreading viper, twelve inches long, last September, and put it in a bottle. About the first of November it apparently died and remained lifeless until the 30th of March, when it suddenly awoke from its stupor and is now as lively as a cricket.

The E. H. Taylor, Jr., Co., is just completing probably the finest warehouse in the country, for storage of O. F. C. whisky. Its size is 157 by 118 feet, four stories high, with tower for elevator five stories high. The first story is of Kentucky River stone, and the other three of brick. Cut stone quoins ornament the corners of the building, and belting courses of stone, with stone mullions, pilasters and caps, ornament the tower. Each window—there are 168 in all—has a dressed keystone, and is protected by an iron window frame.

The interior is in three sections, divided by two open aisles from ground floor to roof, and united by iron girder braces. The aisles will be protected by lines of horizontal and vertical iron railings, along each of the three upper floors. Iron caps strengthen each supporting column. Light and ventilation is made perfect by 172 doors and windows, besides 30 sash windows in the monitor ventilator on top of the building, and by a long row of sky-lights over each aisle that sends light to the lowest floor.

More than half a million brick, over 400,000 feet of lumber, over one thousand perch of stone, and over thirty-three tons of iron were used in the construction. The building is intended to store 16,000 barrels in old-style three tier racks.

Mike Buckley was contractor for tin, iron, cut stone and carpenter work; J. W. Gault & Co., for the brick work, and Minus Williams for the stone masonry and excavation—16,000 cubic yards of dirt being removed to make the latter.

Resolutions of Respect.

At the regular meeting of Hiram Lodge, No. 4, A. Y. M., held Tuesday evening, April 10th, 1883, the following preamble and resolutions were adopted:

WHEREAS, it has pleased an allwise providence to remove from us and his family, our venerable brother, Adam C. Keenon, who died March 26th, 1883, after being a member of the order about 57 years.

Resolved, That in the death of our aged brother, the Lodge has lost a devoted member and a true friend, and his family a kind and affectionate father.

Resolved, That we will cherish a deep sense of his many virtues.

Resolved, That we deeply sympathize with his many friends, and with his bereaved family in their sore affliction, and tender them our heartfelt sympathy.

Resolved, That our charter be draped in mourning for thirty days, and a copy of these resolutions be sent to the family under the seal of the Lodge.

Resolved, That the Frankfort papers be requested to publish these resolutions.

Resolved, That these resolutions be spread upon the minutes, and a page be set apart for that purpose.

All of which is most respectfully submitted.

ADAMS, N. Y. Jan. 30, 1882.
DR. B. J. KENDALL & Co., Gents:—Having used a good deal of your Kendall's Spavin Cure with great success, I thought I would let you know what it has done for me. Two years ago I had a spavin on my leg as was ever raised in Jefferson County. When I was breaking him, he kicked over the cross bar and got fast and tore one of his hind legs all to pieces. I employed the best farriers, but they all said he was spoiled. He had a very large thorough-bred and I used two bottles of your Kendall's Spavin Cure, and it took the bunch entirely off, and he sold afterwards for $1800 (dollars). I have used it for bone spavins and wind galls, and it has always cured completely and left the leg smooth.

It is a splendid medicine for rheumatism. I have recommended it to a good many, and they all say it does the work. I was in Witherington & Kneeland's drug store, in Adams, the other day and saw a very fine picture you sent them. I tried to buy it but could not; they said if I would write to you that you would send me one. I wish you would, and I will do you all the good I can.

Very respectfully, E. S. LYMAN.

Cured the sprain in very short order.
